PASSAGE TO INDIA

The interiors of Jaipur’s Suján Rajmahal Palace hotel have been given a magical revamp befitting the regal Indian city, which has long captivated travelers with its jaw-droppingly ornate forts and rose-hued mansions. Decorated by Adil Ahmad, the new lodgings, set in a sublime 1720 maharaja’s residence, feature a bevy of vivacious colors and patterns, including 48 custom-made wallpaper designs that reflect the area’s flamboyant architectural heritage. Many suites in the property—first converted into a hotel about 33 years ago—are named for the royal family’s one-time guests, among them Queen Elizabeth II and Jacqueline Kennedy.
